The Building of Fort Pownal.—Oration of Rev. Dr. Thurston.

Welcomeness in our daily of to-day, the publication of the main portion of Rev. Mr. Thurston's Oration at the Centennial Celebration at Fort Point, July 28th. It will probably be completed in two numbers of the daily.

There are no certain traces of any permanent European settlement in all this valley, prior to the building of the fort on this point. It is said that cleared land was found on Sandy Point, and on the southeast end of Orphan's Island, and it has been conjectured that some French families once resided there, but no authentic record of such a fact, as I can learn, has yet been found. Nor have I learned that any traces, any signs of the habitations of civilized man had ever existed there. By whom those lands were cleared, or occupied, remains a profound secret.

Long before the building of the fort at this place, there had been several successive trading houses established in Bagaduce, now Castine. Six years after the landing of the Pilgrims at Plymouth, i. e., in 1626, the colonies erected a trading house at Penobscot for the purpose of traffic with the natives. In six or seven years this house was robbed by the French, and three years later the colonists were obliged to abandon the place.

Subsequently, in 1610, D'Aulney, a Frenchman, established himself there, and built fortifications, and for a season, exerted a powerful influence on this coast. In 1665, Baron Castine, a French nobleman, was sent to Canada as an officer in the army. At the close of the war, instead of returning to his native land, he settled himself to the savages of this country. He established himself at Bagaduce—in 1667, married a daughter of Madockawando, the powerful chief of the Penobscots—obtained great influence over the savages, and was reputed rich and active, and dangerous foe to the English. He acquired a large fortune by his traffic with the Indians, and late in life returned to France, and there closed his days. His son "Castine the younger," remained at Bagaduce, and is represented as having been a mild, pacific man. Still his house was plundered in 1703, and robbed of its most valuable articles. The predatory habits of the English and natives—the treachery and cruelty mutually practiced—surely shock our sense of moral integrity, and our feelings of humanity, and one is often in doubt whether civilized or savage were more to be blamed.

A part of Maine and the provinces last called Acadia, were for a long time the source of much contention between the French and English, each claiming the right of possession and jurisdiction. Bloody contests were frequent, one sometimes prevailing, and sometimes the other. In these contests both parties endeavored to enlist the Indians on their side. It is believed that the natives stood readily and many generally sympathized with the French, and aided them in their warfare against the English. The infant settlements west of Penobscot river were greatly annoyed by Indian depredations, often instigated and led on by the French. Solitary habitations, and even neighborhoods and towns were stealthily approached, and suddenly assailed; and the inhabitants murdered or taken captive. Scenes of ferocity and cruelty on the one hand, and of distress and anguish on the other, thy recital of which, at this late day, makes the ears to tingle, and the heart to ache, were often witnessed.—The Penobscot river was the avenue through which incursions were made upon settlements west of this.

It was to shut up this avenue, and put a stop to these incursions that a fort at this place was projected. The plan had been delayed from time to time, on account of prevailing wars which had much exhausted the resources, and wasted the inhabitants of the country. In 1757, Thomas Pownal was made Governor of Massachusetts. He seems to have been eminently fitted for the times, and the work they demanded. It was during what has ever since been known as the French war, in which Quebec was captured, and the French possession in North America fell into the hands of the English. In 1759, the Governor urged upon the Legislature the duty of fortifying the Penobscot river. "He states that since the British forces had seized upon the River St. John, and fortified there, the enemy had no other outlet to the sea, than through the Penobscot river." The policy was to close this outlet, and prevent those evils to the people with it flowed throughout it. The Legislature responded with spirit, and "Resolved, March 23d, that 400 men be employed under the Governor's direction, to take possession of the Penobscot country, and erect a fortification there." The enlistments for the expedition were soon complete. The men being arranged into four companies of a hundred each, were put under the command of a Colonel, and embarked at Boston May 4th." Gov. Pownal accompanied the expedition, and kept a journal of proceedings. From this we learn that the armament touched at Falmouth, now Portland, and remained some days completing their outfits. "May 8th, they left Falmouth, and the next day, arrived off George's river, and there tarried several days. From thence the Gov. sent a part of his forces across the country to Belfast, where the shipping met them the 16th of the month, and took them on board. On the 17th, they reached what is now known as Fort Point Harbor.

Gov. Pownal here landed his forces, with all the precaution which would have been necessary if the surrounding forest had teemed with vigilant foes. One at this day can hardly suppress a smile as he reads the Governor's account of the landing, when he remembers that the once powerful nation of the Tarratines had become so reduced that the warriors amounted to only about 70 or 80 men. "There was no enemy—not, says the Governor, did I expect any. But I could not have justified myself if anything had happened, if I did not take all the same precaution as though there were."

The landing, I think, took place at the angle formed by the point and the isthmus, on the west side of the harbor. They reconnoitered the place, and encamped on the point, then called Wassumkeeg Point. The Indians had a carrying place across the isthmus, between Cape Ellison Harbor and Fort Point Cove. Forty men were sent with axes to clear the carrying place about a rod wide. Here, a log redoubt was built with a guard room to accommodate 20 men. This was completed in three days after the landing. A like work was cut across the narrowest place in the point, and the same kind of redoubt and guard house built there. A road was also cut two rods wide in a direct line from this avenue to the point. On the 21st, a nine pounder was brought ashore, and miles above Bangor. The History of Maine says the landing was on the west side, but Gov. Pownal's journal, which must be regarded as unquestionable authority, says "East" side. Here he buried a leaden plate with this inscription: "May 28, 1759—Province Massachusetts Bay, Dominions of Great Britain. Possession confirmed by L. Pownal, Governor. This in private life would be a novel and amusing way of obtaining and confirming the possession of property.

While ashore at this place, Gen. Samuel Waldo, who had accompanied the expedition, dropped down of an apoplexy, and expired in a few moments. He was a man of much distinction—the son of a wealthy merchant of Boston—and the proprietor of the Waldo Patent. "He was an accomplished gentleman, active and enterprising; had enjoyed the advantage of foreign travel, having crossed the ocean fifteen times, and was an elegant military officer, tall and portly."

Gen. Waldo having large landed interests in Maine, was ever watchful to promote her best welfare. He proposed to give 100,000 acres of land, provided the Government would erect a Province House on the Penobscot. He attended Gov. Pownal in his expedition, not, as it would appear, in an official capacity, but as a matter of personal interest. The sudden death of one so eminently qualified to counsel him, must have been deeply afflictive to the Governor.

A story regarding the last words of Gen. Waldo, which however impressive and striking, I am constrained to regard as apocryphal, has gained so much credence as to find a place in the History of Maine and sundry other writings. The story is, that having landed with Gov. Pownal, a few miles above Bangor, "Withdrawing a few paces, he looked round and exclaimed, 'here is my bound'—meaning the limit of the Waldo Patent—and instantly fell dead on an apoplexy. Two circumstances make it evident that this story is without foundation—first, Gov. Pownal makes no mention of it in his journal; secondly and principally, the Waldo Patent did not extend to the east side of the river; its limit, therefore, could not be reached on that side. His death occurred May 25d—a few weeks before that of his distinguished friend, Sir Wm. Pepperill, one of the most useful and honored men of the 18th century.

The expedition returned to Fort Point, the next day, bringing the remains of the deceased General.

The ashes of Gen. Waldo, it is supposed, still sleep here. I do not learn that there is any record of their removal.

Gov. Pownal after returning from his exploration of the river, finding no place equal to this "Point of Passaumkeag for defence," determined here to build the Fort. He erected the flagstaff, and hoisted the King's colors with all the ceremonies usual on such occasions, adding, he says—divine service to beg his blessing; for unless the Lord builds the house, the laborer worketh in vain!

After giving directions for the building of the Fort, Gov. Pownal embarked for Boston May 30th, the day after the burial of his friend, Gen. Waldo. The journal terminates with his arrival at the Castle in Boston Harbor May 28th, 1759, having been absent 24 days. I know not that there is any record of the further prosecution of the work on the Fort. Williamson in his history of Maine says "the fortification was completed July 28th"—just one hundred years ago today.

The best description I can give of the Fort is one furnished by the late Joseph P. Martin, Esq., a revolutionary soldier, prepared by him more than thirty years ago. He gathered his information largely from one who had lived in the family of Col. Goldthwaite, while he was commander of the Fort.

"It was a regular fortification, four square with flankers, with a block house in the centre. It was surrounded by a ditch 15 feet wide at the top, and five feet at the bottom, and probably 8 feet deep. The outer side of the ditch was 2-0 feet, and the breastwork within the ditch 90 feet. A block-house was erected within the Fort 44 feet square with flankers 33 feet on the sides. In the centre of the ditch were palisades quite around the Fort. The block-house was of square timber, dovetailed at the corners. It was of two very high stories—the lower story used as a barrack; the upper story jutted over the lower 2 1-2 or three feet. This space was covered by loose plank, easily taken up in case of necessity. In this room were 10 or 12 cannon. The house was hipped, with a sentry box on the top. The houses of the officers were situated between the Fort and the bank of the river."

This Fort, though a cheap and slender affair compared with the one now being built on this river, was sufficient for the object of its erection. It put an effectual and final stop to those predatory incursions of the Indians which had greatly annoyed the inhabitants of the coast west of this. The same year in which this was built, Quebec was taken by Gen. Wolf, and the Canadas fell into the hands of Great Britain.—French power upon this continent was broken; and comparatively little inconvenience from the Indians has since been suffered by the citizens of Maine.

A garrison was constantly maintained at Fort Pownall until the revolutionary war. Gen. Jedediah Preble, with a force of about 100 men was first placed in command. He appears to have been a highly respectable and valuable man. He was a native of Wells—began life as a mariner. But by force of character, he pushed his way to the highest stations in society. Both in civil and military life he so distinguished himself, as to ascribe his name upon the page of history. He was the father of Commodore Edward Preble, a still more distinguished man. So far as I have been able to learn, he administered affairs, while in command at the Fort, so as to secure the respect of the country. He closed a life of great activity and usefulness at Portland 1807, at the age of 77.

In 1763, Gen. Preble resigned the command of the Fort, and was succeeded by Thos. Goldthwaite. Goldthwaite was a native of Chelsea, Mass. He was pay-master in the expedition against Crown Point, in 1755. While resident at Fort Pownal he was commissioned as justice of the peace, and solemnized the first marriages on the river. He was also Judge of the Court of Common Pleas, and Commander of the second militia regiment in Lincoln County. In 1770 he was superceded by John Preble, son of the General, the first commander of the Fort.—But Gov. Hutchinson, a zealous royalist, coming into power the following year, reinstated Goldthwaite into his former office. In 1775 he permitted Capt. Mowat, of the British sloop, Canseau, to dismantle the Fort and take away its defenses. He was soon after removed from office, and the Superintendence of the remains given to Col. Buck, of Bucksport. The next year all his commissions were revoked, and Goldthwaite joined the British in the terrible conflict then raging between the colonies and the mother country. But he did not live long to oppose the cause of freedom. He was drowned during the revolutionary war by the shipwreck of the vessel in which he had taken passage for Nova Scotia.

Goldthwaite was a bad man. The Indians, in their traffic with him, complained of his extortions. They said he was not fair in his dealings, like Gen. Preble. Nor was he kind to the early settlers. About the year 1775 or 1776 the inhabitants of Belfast suffered for want of provisions. One occasion of the scarcity, was that they were short of ammunition, and could take but little wild game. Goldthwaite at the Fort, had ammunition entrusted to him for the public good. In their distress they applied to him for a supply; he treated them roughly, and sent them away empty. But as hunger is most imperious in its demand, they not long after made another application, determined they would not be denied. Taking what ammunition they had, and their guns in good order, a number of men made a second visit after this wine. Drawing near the Fort they deputed two of their members, Messrs. Nichols and Davidson, to go in advance of the company and make application. They were coldly repulsed and cruelly denied. The narrator of the story says; "We told him we were determined to have it—the ammunition—and would take it by force of arms if we could not get it without. By this time our company was in sight. We said here come our assistants and you may see them. We are determined not to be treated as the two men were who came to you on this business before. He cooled down, and gave to each man a pound of powder, and ball and flint, and we returned to Belfast in good spirits."

Another anecdote shows the baseness of the man. "He was on a visit to one Mr. Stinson—a poor man. Towards night the cattle came about the house; he went out to see them. Fixing his eye upon a young cow, he said, that heifer is mine, and the next morning he sent two men and took her away, and kept her, and refused to pay his good neighbor."

Goldthwaite sometimes received pay in his own coin. At the launching of a brig which he had built, he made a great feast. He hired an Indian or two to procure fresh moosement for the occasion. The Indians were not long in hunting before they returned with excellent, fat moosemeat. All the cooks in the garrison were put in requisition to furnish the greatest variety of the dainty dish. The guests were loud in their praises of the excellent moose. They had a merry, sumptuous feast. But few days afterwards it was discovered that the unguish Indians had made the Colonel feast upon his own favorite three years old colt.

Soon after the British came to Degaduce, in 1770. "Col. Cargill came from New Castle, and burnt the block house; and subsequently by order of Government, he appears at the head of a party, and labored industriously till almost exhausted, with toil and anxiety in filling the ditches and levelling the breastwork." That he but very partially succeeded is evident from the embankments and ditches which now remain, after the lapse of 80 years. No garrison was maintained here after that time.

From the Journal of Gov Pownal it appears that a chaplain accompanied the expedition which came to establish the Fort. How long he remained does not appear. But it is evident that the garrison was subsequently destitute of a religious teacher; for in 1788, "Gov. Bernard told the House that a chaplain ought to be under constant pay at Fort Pownal, who might preach to the settlers, in the audience of the Indians; for, said he, there is no minister of the Gospel within the circle of 100 miles diameter. The General Court appropriated £4 per month for the support of a chaplain."

The Political Campaign.

The time of the State election is not far distant, and it is desirable that our Republican friends should be turning their attention to the necessary work of organization, and the preliminary steps for securing a good vote of the party. The sham democracy has no strength with the people upon any platform of principle which it has ventured to put once—either from one wing or the other of the party. Both are alike lacking in the essential elements of free republican doctrine. But that party may nevertheless make a bold push for success without any basis of principle. They may attempt to do something by way of surprise—and in that way endeavor to gain Senators, representatives or County officers, from the inaction of the Republicans themselves. This will be attempted in various localities—and the Republicans should be prepared for it, by a good organization, good nominations, and a determination to get out a good vote.

Our County Conventions are most of them to be held within the coming fortnight—the Penobscot Convention assembles in this city on the 18th inst. Let the Republicans in the various towns see to it that they are well represented.—Then let the Conventions make such nominations as will maintain the high confidence which the party has ever had with the people—and it will need but a moderate effort to secure the election by the usually large Republican majorities.

Their is nothing, either in the spirit of the sham democracy, in their candidates or in their principles, to imagine them will any reasonable hope of success in Maine. Their nomination for Governor, made at the Convention of trading politicians which assembled in this city at the close of June is justly claimed and regarded as an administration nomination. Manasseh H. Smith is a straight-out Buchanan man—prepared to go all lengths in support of Buchanan, Lecompton, Dred Scott, National Democracy.—The Belfast administration organ distinctly claims him as such—as having "LOST FAITHFULLY SUSTAINED THE ADMINISTRATION IN ALL ITS VICISSITUDES." It says that "His re-nomination at the present time furnishes the most conclusive proof that the democracy of Maine stood by the administration as their ideas '56, '57, and '58—that JAMES BUCHANAN HAS NO MORE DECIDED SUPPORTER IN MAINE THAN MANASSEH H. SMITH."

This being the case, there is not even a spirit of cordial unanimity in the ranks of the sham democracy to give them hopes of success. Neither wing is very desirous lest the other should get the credit and moral strength of a victory—although they are bound to give the candidate an apparent support.

It lays, therefore, with the Republicans to secure their own victory. They should not only take care of the main fight and thus secure the State ticket—but they should see to it that the enemy does not pick away in detail. The Senators, representatives, and county officers should be well nominated, and then well supported—lest the enemy may not claim a victory by making large gains in the Legislature.

It is no time to permit the enemy to gain an advantage in Maine. The Republican ranks must not be broken into for the benefit of a party which is to be governed, body and soul, at Charleston next year, by the Southern pro-slavery managers. Maine must be and remain Republican in the results of her elections, as her people are and will remain Republican at heart. Her example, her influence, must still be exerted for the cause of freedom—and no step backward be taken until the Confederation is in fact a free Republic. There is no danger of Maine's example or influence being given in opposition to this party of freedom, if the people will but see the necessity of continued action at the polls. It is only from over reliance in the strength of the party that there is any danger to be apprehended.—The safest way is for every man to make up his mind that his vote will be wanted, and to go and cast it. There was never so large a Republican majority in Maine as at the present day—and if we had an excitement like that of 1856, the fact would be demonstrated by the vote. And yet a party as strong as this may be beaten by an over reliance in its own strength.

BLONDIN'S LAST AND GREATEST FEAT. At Niagara Falls on Wednesday, M. Blondin crossed the river on his rope for the fourth time. He passed over to the Canada side on a brisk trot; but his return trip eclipsed his previous feats. When near the centre of the rope, he tied his balance pole to the guy rope and navigated by means of his hands and feet, his body being in a state of suspended animation beneath. After proceeding some distance in this way, he assumed a perpendicular position and returned for the balance-pole and then walked on. Lying down on his back, he extended the balance-pole the length of his arm, and then threw his body over the pole, striking astride the rope. Without the pole, he hung by one leg from the rope, and supported himself by one arm. During his passage, he stood on his head several times.

A COLD REGION. Dr. Kane's observations upon the weather and the temperature experienced by his party in the last Arctic expedition, were submitted to the Scientific Convention by Prof. Bache, and they show that the mean temperature of the year was 87 degrees below zero. The lowest was 66 below in January, 1855—the highest 51 above, in July, 1854. The coldest winds came from the American Continent—the warmest from the Spitzbergen sea, and the Asiatic and European continent.

Frequent accidents, involving the loss of limbs, occur from the use of mowing machines at the West. A St. Louis paper states that a Mr. Rites, while mowing with a mowing machine, and riding one of the horses hitched thereto, was thrown from the horse, and both arms were cut off by the mower. Amputation took place, and he is doing well. This is the fourth man in the same county that has been similarly injured.

A curious wager has just come off in high life in Paris. The old Viscount de L—— has won 3000 francs by playing at billiards for 36 hours without rest. The Viscount is 72 years of age—his adversary, the Marquis de C——, a much younger man. At the end of twelve hours the Marquis gave in.

A letter from Florence states that M. M. Kossuth, Klapka, and Teleki, who had constituted themselves in that city as a Hungarian committee, have separated, renouncing all projects of political action.

A statement gives the number of free-masons in the United States as 211,588, and the income of all the lodges is about $1,450,000.

THE TELEGRAPH IN WAR. The French appear to have made an extensive use of the magnetic telegraph during their late campaign in Italy.—Upwards of seventy of the most skilful operators accompanied the army, and organized a perfect system of communication between all the different corps, and with Paris.

UNSUCCESSFUL. Mr. Wise, the aeronaut, who made an ascension in his balloon at St. Louis, on Saturday, intending to come East as far as the Atlantic, only made thirty miles of the distance when he was beaten down by the rain.

REPUBLICAN COUNTY CONVENTIONS have been called as follows.

In Kennebec County, at Augusta, Aug. 11
In Lincoln County, at Wiscasset, Aug. 11.
In Franklin County, at Farmington, Aug. 16.
In Oxford County, at South Paris, Aug. 17.
In Sagadahoc County, at Bath, Aug. 17.
In Penobscot County, at Bangor, Aug. 18.
In Waldo County, at Belfast, Aug. 20.
In Cumberland County, at Portland, Aug. 26.
In Somerset County, at Skowhegan, Aug. 26.

A correspondent of the Bath Times, writing from Niagara Falls says that where the Suspension Bridge originally sagged only two or three inches under the weight of a train, it now sags nearly twenty inches. The general impression in the neighborhood is that this great work of art will one of these days give way and fall into the river. Visitors now walk over the bridge, instead of crossing in the trains as formerly.

HOW TO GET SICKLES OUT OF CONGRESS.—It has been suggested to Mr. Sickles' disgusted constituents that if they want to oust him from his seat in Congress, the most effectual way will be to owe up to the frauds by which they elected him.—Jeff.

"Jim, why were you out so late last night?" "It wasn't so very late—only a quarter of 12." "How dare you sit there and tell me that lie? I was awake when you came, and looked at my watch; it was 3 o'clock." "Well, isn't 3 a quarter of 12?"

SWEDENBORGIAN CONVENTION. The 24th annual meeting of Maine the Association of the Societies of the New Jerusalem Church, will be holden in the Temple at Gardiner, on Friday, Saturday and Sunday, August 19th, 20th and 21st.

The Maine Teacher, published and edited by Leon. Martin M. Dunnell, has entered upon its second volume. It deserves success.

LOCAL AND MAINE NEWS.

In Police Court, yesterday, Catherine J. Anderson was sentenced to the House of Correction for thirty days as a common drunkard.

Rev. C. C. Everett, who has accepted the call of the Unitarian Society of this city, to become their Pastor, will be ordained and installed in the early part of September.

POST OFFICE ROBBERY. John Spaulding was brought before the United States Commissioner, James S. Rowe, Esq., yesterday, on a complaint made by Leonard Jones, Esq., Postmaster of this city, charging said Spaulding with robbing the the Post Office of three letters, directed to one Samuel Reynolds. He was committed for further hearing this morning at eleven o'clock. B. Kimball appeared for the prisoner.

Spaulding, it appears, kept a shanty on tracks near the Post office, called for letters at the delivery directed to Mr. George Reynolds and wife, and to another person. He left these letters with a Mr. Smith on Columbia street, who called Marshal Farnham's attention to the circumstance, and Mr. Jones entered a complaint as above stated.

The crops in the eastern part of Maine were never in better condition, generally speaking.—Hay has been nearly all secured, and except upon the sea-board is a very heavy crop. Wheat is looking remarkably well—is heavy and very free from weeds so far as we have observed, and many pieces that we have seen in this county and Hancock, are ready for the sickle. Corn looks far better than was anticipated in June and the early part of July, and with ordinary warm weather for the remainder of this month will yet turn out a fair crop, in many sections. Potatoes appear to have escaped the rust as yet—or they had escaped up to last week.—They then needed rain, however to secure a good growth. The rain of Sunday night has been of some benefit, perhaps. Oats we have never seen looking better than in portions of Penobscot and Hancock counties through which we have passed.

FATAL ACCIDENT AT THE RAILROAD STATION.—Yesterday forenoon (Monday) as the cars loaded with wood and bark attached to the freight train of the E. & K. Railroad came to the depot in this city and were switched off upon the outer track to unload for shipment, they came in contact with an Irish woman, named Murray, who was picking up fragments of bark near the track, and crushed both her thighs in a most horrible manner. The right thigh was crushed from the knee to the hip and the left was crushed near the knee, both bones being smashed to fragments, and both limbs left hanging by the mutilated flesh. She was immediately conveyed to her home in May street, and attended by Dr. Laughton. But her injuries were too severe for remedy—and she died within an hour. It is said she made no attempt to get out of the way of the cars, but her hoops caught some loose wood and threw her upon the track. She was about 35 years of age, and leaves a husband and three children. She was formerly the widow Tivener, and was recently re-married.

THE LEVEES AT NOROMBEGA HALL. The Dutton children give Levees at Norombega Hall this and to-morrow afternoon and evening at 3 and 8 o'clock. We hope that 2000 Ladies and Gentlemen will greet them as they appear on the stage this afternoon. They require no puffing from us to secure them full houses in this city, for they are probably the most interesting specimens of humanity on the face of the globe.

A Boston paper states that there was a shout of applause at the execution of their musical pieces, and especially at the close of the following familiar song:

MY GRANDMA'S ADVICE.

My Grandma lives on yonder little green,
Fine old lady, as ever was seen;
She often cautioned the with care,
Of all false young men to beware.
Timol time um tum time um pa ta
Of all false young men to beware.

These false young men they flatter and deceive
So my love you must not believe;
They flatter, they'll coax, till you are in their snare
And away goes poor old grandma's care.
Timol time um tum time um pa ta
And away goes poor old grandma's care.

The first name a courting was little Johnny Green,
Fine young man as ever was seen;
But the words of my Grandma run in my head,
And I could not hear one word he said
Timol time um tum time um pa ta
And I could not hear one word he said.

The next name a courting was young Ellis Grove,
Twas then we met with a joyous love;
With a joyous love I couldn't be afraid
You'd better get married than die an old maid
Timol time um tum time um pa ta
You'd better get married than die an old maid.

Thinks I to myself there's some mistake,
What a fuss these old folks make;
If the boys and the girls had all been so frald,
Then Grandma herself would have died an old maid.
Timol time um tum time um pa ta
Then Grandma herself would have died an old maid.

FIRE IN PORTLAND. On Sunday morning at 2 o'clock, a fire occurred at Nos. 366 and 368 Congress street, Portland, by which Mr. John H. Sherman, cabinet manufacturer, and Mr. John Dresser, tailoress, were burned out. Two of the members of Deluge Fire Company were injured by the fall of a shed—one of them Mr. John R. Mitchel, severely.

BOY SHOT.—A little son of Mr. Benj. Blair, near the "Cove," in Woolwich, while playing with another boy was shot on Friday afternoon last, with a gun loaded for geese, which had been carelessly left in a shed where the boys got hold of it. The charge entered just above the eye, carrying a portion of the skull and exposing the brain, and leaving a frightful wound.—He cannot probably recover.—Bath Times.

GREAT FIRE AT SOUTH BERWICK. We learn from the Argus that a fire broke out in the depot of the Great Falls & Conway Railroad at Salmon Falls, at about half past 4 o'clock on Saturday afternoon. The building was totally destroyed. The wind being west and blowing strongly, the flames soon communicated across the Salmon Falls river with buildings in Berwick, totally destroying some thirteen stores and dwellings. Loss estimated at about $20,000—insurance not yet ascertained, but does not exceed $5000; insured in the Cocheco, Saco and York Cos. It was with difficulty the large bridge of the Boston & Maine R. R., across the river was saved.

We are indebted to Mr. J. H. Stickney for a paper containing the above account, in advance of the mail.

SUDDEN DEATH OF A MAINE MAN IN CALIFORNIA. James Taylor, a native of Deer Island, while engaged in carrying a pail of water, at Brown's Bar, California, ruptured a blood vessel and fell dead.

The Northern Railroad Accident—Unsafe Condition of the Bridge—Statement of a Passenger.

The Albany Argus gives a description of the scene of the late murder on the Northern Railroad, stating it to be at a stream about 17 miles north of Albany, where the railroad crossed a bridge, well known to be a miserably rotten structure. In fact people were surprised that the bridge had not given way long ago. The account says:

It had been noticed not once, but frequently, especially of late, that as soon as a train run upon it employees and passengers were aware of a 'sagging down,' which became the more palpable as soon as the cars reached solid ground again. A comparatively heavy train passed over within an hour of the accident; and many particularly noticed the 'sagging.' At either end the timbers, where they rested on the stone walls, were rotten at least two-thirds of their thickness.

Mr. E. E. Lewis of Genesseo, gives an account of the accident, from which we take the following:

As the cars went on to the bridge, Mr. Lewis remembers distinctly feeling a sort of jar or jerk, which gave him the momentary impression that some thing was wrong; but before the thought could form itself distinctly in his mind, the crash came. Mr. Lewis suddenly felt the car plunging downward, as it were, and falling to pieces. The second car plunged under the first, and tore out the sides and bottom. Mr. Lewis was thrown violently forward, head first, striking, as he supposed, against the top of the second car turned and fell to the bottom, on the top of a number of persons.

For an instant there was not the slightest noise—not a shriek of terror or a groan of pain. So instantaneous was the destruction that every person's energies appeared paralyzed. The first words that Mr. L. remembers hearing, for he was himself, if not stunned, entirely bewildered, were delivered in a very calm voice, and were, 'Say, you at the top, get off just as quick as you can, won't you?' as if this was the signal for a recovery of consciousness, in was immediately followed by agonising shrieks and groans, and loud cries for help.

Mr. Lewis extricated himself from the wreck as speedily as possible, and the first person he recognized was Mr. Cooley, the conductor. He had been thrown violently forward the entire length of the car, and had crawled back to where his wife, her mother and child had sat. Mrs. Cooley and Mrs. Cuyler lay apparently in the position they had occupied in the car. Their feet were up and their hands and the upper part of their bodies were buried in the wreck. Mr. Cooley sank almost helpless by the side of his wife, whom he apparently recognized by her dress, at which he was pulling, now beseeching assistance for her, and now calling piteously upon her name, and beseeching her to rise and save herself. She and her mother were both found to be dead.

It appears that the engine had barely reached solid ground when the trestle-work gave way, the mail and baggage cars were the first to go down—then followed the first passenger car, which fell on the end, and thus stood, until the second and last passenger car went down.

The engine escaped a backward plunge, and the lives of the engineer and fireman were saved in a singular manner. When the tender was falling the engineer had firm hold of the large throttle, and experiencing a heavy jerk as the train sunk into the gulf below, all the power of which the engine was capable was let loose, causing it to break away from all connections, and jump forward many yards. It was a desperate chance for the engineer and fireman.—Scarce twelve inches of ground were between them and instant destruction, and they were saved without a scratch, while all about them was death in the most sickening forms.

There were about four passengers aboard the train, and eight or ten were killed, we believe.

MARRIED.

In Brewer, 7th inst., by Rev. O. G. Porter, Mr. Amos F. Bennett, of Brewer, to Miss Louisa A. Lorette, of Bangor.

DIED.

In this city, on Sunday evening, Mrs. Esther Phillips Parsons Hammatt, widow of the late William Hammatt, aged 72 years.

To the hearts of many among us, this notice will convey a feeling of sadness—not that our friend, after a checkered life, has gone to her rest, but rather, that we may look far, and fail to find so fair a type of the class she so nobly represented.

The associations of her youth fitted her to adorn the station to which her birth entitled her, and the urbanity of her manners fully expressed the Christian courtesy which graced her heart. Accustomed to receive the deference which was due to her dignified age, she was ever ready to render to others the graceful courtesy which would have become her youth;—and when of late, the lamp of memory burned low, she still left upon the minds of all who were so happy as to meet her an earnest respect for the kindliness of thought which she always clothed in such choice language.

The shades of such as she are daily passing on, and while to all of us they should ever be a living example, may we remember that:

Blessed are they who die in the Lord,—for their works shall follow them.

Died in Corinville, Me, July 31st, Mrs Lydia J. wife of Rev. John P. Whitney of Marlow, N. H., aged about 25 years.

SILVER IN PORTLAND.—The Portland Advertiser says:—

There is a very general suspicion among the "knowing ones," that a certain vessel now anchored in our harbor is fitting out for a cruise to the African coast, with the view of returning to Cuba or Florida, with a load of native Congoes.—We do not know that such is the fact, but the belief is so general, and is, we are assured, sustained by so many circumstances, that it would seem to be the duty of the U. S. officials at this port to make a very close examination before the vessel is allowed to depart.

Ladies' Gaiter Boots.

A little glove stirs up my heart as tides stir up the ocean,
And snows of the muslin, when it flies, wrack many a serious notion;
All sorts of lady fixings thrill my feelings, as they order,
But little female gaiter-boots are death and nothing shorter!

And just to put you on your guard,
I'll give you, short and brief,
A small hotel experience,
Which filled my heart with grief.
Last summer, at the Bangor House,
I stopped a week or more,
And marked two "boots-to" every morn,
Before my neighbor's door;
Two boots with patent leather tips—
Two boots which seemed to say,
"An angel trod around in me"—
They stole my heart away.
And often in my nightly dreams
They peep before my face,
A lady growing out of them,
As flowers grow from a vase.
But, ah! one morn I saw a sight
Which smote me like a stone,
Some oldest name was on the boots,
Those boots were not alone!
A great tall pair of other boots
Were striding by their side,
And off they walked that afternoon,
And with them walked—a bride.

Ladies, ornament is unnecessary. Those Gaiter Boots tame him!

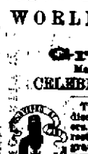
Science Confounded
AND THE
WORLD ASTOUNDED!
BY THE
Great Cures
Made by DR. NORCROSS'
CELEBRATED REMEDIES!



Thousands who have been laid low by disease will attest to their healing powers. By the use of them they have been restored to health and vigor, and their gratitude is unbounded. O, could the world be wise, throw aside the poisonous and deleterious medicines they now use, which serve to reduce their physical strength, and bring on weakness and debility, and numerous other troubles—and take the long sought for medicines, which operate upon the whole system, like a charm, and which are emphatically, as every one who ever used them will testify—

"A sovereign balm for every wound,
A cordial for our fears."

Or, for once be wise—don't longer delay. Delays are dangerous, and while you are taking the poisonous drugs, the disease may have so far progressed as to make it too late for hope. Now is the time to buy and try my medicines, and again to enjoy the blessings of health. Try them—and you will never have cause to repent of it.

Dr. A. L. Norcross' Medicines.

Sugar Coated Vegetable Pills, Pills.

In bringing this Medicine before the public, I have no desire to extol its medical properties above what it honestly deserves. I have used them in my practice for the last twenty years, and have ever found them to be a sure remedy in eradicating disease from the system. Thousands who have used them sound willingly attest to their healing qualities. Therefore I have no hesitation in recommending them to be the best Cathartic now before the public. These Pills have more than a simple claim, on the public, for the following reasons: They are purely vegetable. They cause no pain or griping, although they are certain in their operations, and are perfectly harmless for male or female in any condition, for they do not weaken, but strengthen the whole system, by exciting every organ to a healthy action. They are, also, a sure remedy for all diseases that arise from impurities of the blood—such as Inflammation of the Liver, Kidneys, Bowels, Spleen, Bladder; Rheumatism, Bowel Complaints, Jaundice, Headache, Loss of Appetite, Languor, Debility, and last of all, warranted a sure cure for Dyspepsia, in all its forms, if they are taken judiciously. Numerous certificates might be added, giving to their good properties, but I prefer willing the Medicine to their own merits. Single box 25 cts—6 boxes $1.

JAUNDICE ELIXIR.

To purify, cleanse, and strengthen the Blood, and cause a healthy action of the Liver. Blood in all cases of Debility. Warranted a sure cure for Jaundice. Price 50 cents.

GERMAN PILE SALVE.

This Salve is a safe and sure cure for this most distressing, and in many cases, dangerous disorder, which has baffled the skill of the most eminent physicians of this country. It is prepared wholly of vegetable and animal substances, and can be used with perfect safety in all cases. Those afflicted with this indeed troublesome of disorders will learn that relief which has been denied them from other sources. One box will generally cure the most confirmed case. Numerous certificates might be had from those who have sought and obtained relief, proving its value and efficacy.

Price 50 cents per box.

CROTON LINIMENT.

For Chronic and Rheumatic Complaints.—This Liniment is a sure remedy for Headache, Sprains, Bruises, Burns, Scalds, Spinal Affections, Palsy, Chilblains, &c. Let the rheumatic halt, lame and pained invalid examine its qualities, and they will not be disappointed. Years of study and investigation have enabled the proprietor of the Croton Liniment to furnish a remedy extraordinary in its powers over disease, no matter of how long standing. Price 50 cents.

Prepared only by the subscriber, at his Laboratory, at Brown's Corner, Vassalboro', Maine, to whom all orders must be directed. ☞ None genuine but those purchased of me or my agents.

SLATE!

THE Bangor and Piscataquis Slate Company having completed their arrangements for the manufacture of SLATE, are prepared to receive orders for any dimension which may be required, from a "paper weight" to a "Billiard Table."

The endless variety of uses to which this article may be applied, will readily occur to the thinking, and indeed to every observer of the progress of modern improvement in the arts of life.

Country for Shops, Shelves, Hearths, Tables for Printers, Blank Books for Schools, are among the many purposes for which this article will be in demand.

The peculiar texture or grain of the slate from the Brownville quarry, being entirely free from those grains, or cross grains, which are apt to disfigure almost all other slates, renders the surface of the manufactured article smooth and true, and it is insisted, and probably will not be denied, that it is the best slate in the known world.

Having recently filled an order for Messrs. Wheeler & Lynde, of the Whig and Courier, they have kindly permitted their Tables to be examined at their office.

The Company can also supply almost any quantity and size of Roofing Slate, and solicit inquiries in any of the branches, of their business. Enquiries at their office. Apply to C. B. ABBOTT, Lower Steamboat (Coe's) Wharf, Bangor, Maine.

COTTON BELTING!

HAVING received the Agency for the sale of this Belting, the subscriber would call the attention of Mill Owners, Machinists, and others interested in the use of an efficient and cheap belt, to samples which may be seen at his counting-room, Lower Steamboat (Coe's) Wharf.

This Belting is formed by weaving several layers of Duck solid in one body, and like leather it partakes of the strain in all its portions, and gives a gain of power over every other kind in passing the pulley. It is especially adapted for open Belts and for heavy and main Belts, while its elasticity allows it to be used on very small pulleys, and where quick speed is required. It can be made of any desired length, without lap or joint. The cost of this Belting helps about one half that of leather, will recommend it to the attention of every customer. Any width, from 1 to 28 inches, furnished, and extra width and thickness made to order.

This would be a gain of three to the opposition ranks.

A SLAVER IN PORTLAND. The Portland Advertiser says:

There is a very general suspicion among the "knowing ones," that a certain vessel now anchored in our harbor is fitting out for a cruise to the African coast, with the view of returning to Cuba or Florida, with a load of native Congoes.—We do not know that such is the fact, but the belief is so general, and is, we are assured, sustained by so many circumstances, that it would seem to be the duty of the U. S. officials at this port to make a very close examination before the vessel is allowed to depart.

Ladies' Gaiter Boots.

A little glove stirs up my heart as tides stir up the ocean,
And snow-white muslin, when it flits, wakes many a glorious notion;
All sorts of lady fixings thrill my foolings, as boyd orter,
But little female gaiter boots are death, and nothing shorter!
And just to put you on your guard,
I'll give you short and brief,
A small hotel experience
Which filled my heart with grief:
Last summer, at the Bangor House,
I stopped a week or more,
And marked two "boot-ies" every morn
Before my neighbor's door;
Two boots with patent leather tops—
Two boots which seemed to say,
"An angel trots around in us"—
They stole my heart away;
And often in my night dreams
They swim before my face,
A lady growing out of them,
As flowers grow from a vase.
But ah one morn I saw a sight
Which struck me like a stone,
Some other name was on the book—
Those boots were not alone!
A great all pair of other boots
Were standing by their side,
And off they walked that afternoon,
And with them walked—a bride.
Ladies, comment is unnecessary. Those Gaiter Boots came from

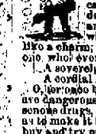
Science Confounded
AND THE
WORLD ASTOUNDED!
BY THE
Great Cures
Made by DR. NORCROSS'
CELEBRATED REMEDIES!



Thousands we have been laid low by disease, will attest to their healing powers. By the use of them they have been restored to health and vigor, and their gratitude is unbounded. O, could all the world be wise—they say, laid the poisonous and deleterious medicines they now use, which serve to reduce their physical strength, and bring on weakness and debility, and numerous other troubles—and take the long sought for medicines, which operate upon the whole system like a charm, and which are hesitatingly, as everyone who ever used them will testify—

A sovereign balm for every wound,
A cordial for our fears.

O, forbear to be wise—don't longer delay. Delays are dangerous, and while you are taking the poisonous drugs, the disease may have so far progressed as to make it too late for hope. Now is the time to try and try my medicines, and again to enjoy the blessings of health. Try them—and you will never have cause to repent of it.

Dr. A. L. Norcross' Medicines.

Sugar Coated Vegetable Bilious Pills.

In bringing this Medicine before the public, I have no desire to extol its medical properties above what it honestly deserves. I have used them in my practice for the last twenty years, and have ever found them to be a sure remedy for eradicating disease from the system. Thousands who have used them would willingly attest to their healing qualities. Therefore I have no hesitation in warranting them to be the best Cathartic now before the public. These Pills have more than a simple claim on the public, for the following reasons: They are purely vegetable. They cause no pain or griping, although they are certain in their operation, and are perfectly harmless for male or female in any condition; for they do not weaken, but strengthen the whole system, by exciting every organ to a healthy action. They are, also, a sure remedy for all diseases that arise from impurities of the blood—such as Inflammation of the Liver, Kidneys, Bowels, Spleen, Bladder; Rheumatism, Bowel Complaints, Jaundice, Headache, Loss of Appetite, Languor, Debility; and as a cathartic, warranted a sure cure for Dyspepsia, in all its forms, if they are taken judiciously. Numerous certificates might be had testifying to their good properties, but I feel willing to let them stand on their own merits. Single box 25 cts—5 boxes $1.

JAUNDICE ELIXIR.

To purify, cleanse, and strengthen the Blood, and cause a healthy action of the Liver, I find in all cases of Debility. Warranted a sure cure for Jaundice. Price 50 cents.

GERMAN PILE SALVE.

This Salve is a safe and sure cure for the most distressing, and in many cases, dangerous disorder, which has baffled the skill of the most eminent physicians of this country. It is prepared wholly of vegetable and animal balms, and can be used with perfect safety in all cases. Those afflicted with this most troublesome of disorders will here find that relief which has been denied them from other sources. One box will generally cure the most confirmed case. Numerous certificates might be had from those who have sought and obtained relief, proving its value and efficacy. Price 50 cents per box.

CHOTON LINIMENT.

For Chronic and Rheumatic Complaints.—This Liniment is a sure remedy for Headache, Sprains, Bruises, Burns, Scalds, Spinal Affections, Pain, Chilblains, &c. Let the rheumatic, halt, lame and pained invalid examine its qualities and they will not be disappointed. Years of study and investigation have enabled the proprietor of the Choton Liniment to furnish a remedy extraordinary in its power over disease, no matter of how long standing. Price 50 cents.

Prepared only by the subscriber, at his Laboratory at Brown's Corner, Vassalboro, Maine, to whom all orders must be directed. ☞ None genuine but those purchased of me or my agents.

Through Tickets, including the transit of the Isthmus of Panama R. R.

On account of the numerous frauds and impositions on travelers, those bound to California are cautioned to buy Tickets at the only authorized Agencies of the United States Mail Line, as below.

By order of the Post-master General, the United States Mail Steamers will hereafter be dispatched from New York, to Aspinwall, on the 5th and 20th of each month.

Passengers are landed at the Railroad Depot, Aspinwall, and conveyed across the Pacific Steamers without extra expense. This is the only line giving Through Tickets, guaranteeing no detention on the Isthmus.

Transit made in four hours, entirely by daylight, thus avoiding the great exposure by night in open boats to river and sun, and 200 miles of dangerous lake and river navigation, over rocks and shoals.

New England Ailments

AND

THE ONLY REMEDY!!

THE Eastern States, included in that section of the Union which is popularly known as "New England," contain a thrifty, industrious, intelligent people, who have achieved an uncommon degree of prosperity, with a climate extremely trying to certain constitutions, and a soil of small fertility, but have nevertheless proved to surpass more favored communities in almost every thing that constitutes social comfort and happiness. Unfortunately, they are occasionally so absorbed in business and mental cultivation, that they neglect the precautions which are essential to bodily health. Dyspepsia and physical debility are thus brought among all classes. The first disease is produced by inattention to the digestive organs, which are so susceptible of disarrangement. Thousands are now paying the penalty of this neglect, and suffering daily the most trying pains, almost without a hope of relief. They have come to believe that their ailment is chronic, and that they must bear it to the end. It gladdens the exceedingly to announce to these afflicted individuals that they may now command a remedy of unquestionable potency and virtue, which has never been found to fail in the cases of dispeptic weakness or derangement. Hundreds of witnesses are ready to grow eloquent in praise of this wonderful conqueror of dyspepsia, which is known as

DR. J. HOSTETTER'S

Celebrated Stomach Bitters.

But that a numerous class who devote themselves to literary and other sedentary pursuits, and in consequence of a want of physical exercise, become the victims of indigestion and debility, without nervous appetite, have sought in vain for some invigorating tonic giving medicine, whose effects upon the system shall be both speedy and permanent. Physicians of eminence, and profoundly acquainted with the requirements of the human frame, commend the Bitters of Messrs. Hostetter, as the safest and swiftest stimulant to the recuperative energies of the system yet discovered. It restores the appetite, gives fresh vigor to the digestive organs, sends the blood through the veins with a more rapid current, corrects a tendency to depression of spirits, and lifts a man for the time being, into the region of a cheerful heart and active mind. Unlike other medicines which have been devised for the same object, the BITTERS do not act upon medically, or with a temporary power—the influence of the remedy is lasting. It appears that with a few some attention to securing proper exercise, after the period of the patient has arrived, he need fear no return of the affection. The debility natural to the enervating effects of years upon the bodily frame is also alleviated by this great strengthening medicine, thus enabling the aged to pass their allotted days in physical ease and comfort, they are now suffering from chronic weakness and nervousness. To this venerable class of people, Hostetter's Bitters may be commended as invaluable. The proprietors of this invigorator have, in addition, a deep gratification in asserting Nursing Mothers that they will find the BITTERS the best and safest of restoratives. Very few medicines are adapted by physicians as properly to administered during the period of nursing, and this has obtained an universal preference.

☞ Those who desire to purchase this great remedy for Dyspepsia and Debility should remember the precise title, Hostetter's Celebrated Stomach Bitters, and see that it is put up in quart bottles, with the name, Dr. J. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, blown on the bottle, and also stamped on the cork, covering the cork with the lithograph of Hostetter & Smith on the label. These things are important, on account of the numerous counterfeits now in the market.

☞ Prepared and sold by HOSTETTER & SMITH, Pittsburg, Pa., and also sold by all druggists, grocers, and dealers generally throughout the United States, Canada, South America, and Germany.

☞ Sold, wholesale and retail, by B. F. Bradbury and S. Harlow, Bangor; at retail by R. F. Kimball, Oldtown; S. Libby, Orono; E. H. Parker, Buckesport.

R. H. EDDY,

SOLICITOR OF PATENTS,

Late Agent of U. S. Patent Office, Washington (under the Act of 1837.)

76 State Street, opposite Kilby Street,

BOSTON.

AFTER an extensive practice of upwards of twenty years, continues to secure Patents in the United States; also, in Great Britain, France, and other foreign countries. Caveats, Specifications, Bonds, Assignments, and all Papers or Drawings for Patents, executed on liberal terms, and with despatch. Research made into American or Foreign works, to determine the validity or utility of Patents or Inventions—and legal or other advice rendered in all matters touching the same. Copies of the claims of any Patent furnished by remitting One Dollar. Assignments recorded at Washington.

The Agency is not only the largest in New England, but through it inventors have advantages for securing Patents, of ascertaining the patentability of inventions unsurpassed by, if not immeasurably superior to, any which can be offered them elsewhere. The Testimonials below given prove that none is MORE SUCCESSFUL AT THE PATENT OFFICE than the subscriber, and as SUCCESSFUL THE BEST PROOF OF ADVANTAGES AND ABILITY, he would add that he has abundant reason to believe, and can prove, that at no other office of the kind are the charges for professional services so moderate. The immense practice of the subscriber during twenty years past, has enabled him to accumulate a vast collection of specifications and official documents relative to patents. These, besides his extensive library of legal and mechanical works, and full accounts of patents granted in the United States and Europe, render him able, by his question, to offer superior facilities for obtaining Patents.

All necessity of a journey to Washington, to procure a patent, and the usual great delay there are here saved inventors.

PARK.

[From the Providence Advertiser.]

THE foreign and domestic demand for Perry Davis's great medicine—the Pain Killer—was never before so large as it has been of late, and we think the time has arrived when the declaration may be made, without the possibility of refutation, that the City of Providence, in the State of Rhode Island, of the United States of America, has furnished the entire habitual globe with a medicine, which, in point of universality of demand, extent of usefulness, complete efficiency for all the purposes for which it is designed, and widespread, enduring popularity, has never been equalled by any general patent medicine invented and issued either in Europe or America.

The universality of the demand for the Pain Killer is a novel, interesting, and surprising feature in the history of this medicine. It is now regularly packed, sent and sold, in large and steadily increasing quantities, not only to every State and Territory of the Union, and every Province of British America, but to Buenos Ayres, Brazil, Uruguay, Peru, Chili and other South American States; to the Sandwich Islands; to Cuba and other West India Islands; to England and Continental Europe; to Mozambique, Madagascar, Zanzibar and other African lands; to Australia, Singapore, Mauritius, and to Calcutta, Rangoon and other places in India; it has also been sent to China, and we doubt if there is any foreign port that is frequented by American missionaries, travelers or traders, into which the Pain Killer has not been introduced and been sought after by the people. Very few people have any idea of the vast amount of business done by the proprietors of the Pain Killer.

The extent of its usefulness is another great feature of this remarkable medicine. It is but only the best over known for bruises, cuts, burns, and for dysentery or cholera, or any sort of bowel complaint, it is a remedy unsurpassed for efficiency and rapidity of action. In the several great cities of British India, and in the West India Islands, and other hot climates, it has become the standard medicine for all such complaints, as well as for dyspepsia, liver complaints, and other kindred disorders. For coughs and colds, canker, asthma, and rheumatic difficulties, it has been proved by the most abundant and convincing trials, and testimony, to be a most invaluable medicine. The proprietors have in possession of letters from persons of the highest character and responsibility, testifying, in unequivocal terms, to the cures effected, and the satisfactory result produced, in an almost endless variety of cases, by the use of this great medicine.

We are fully justified in saying that no medicine has ever gained a popularity so strong, so extensive and so enduring. Other preparations, in imitation of it, and containing some of the ingredients composing it, have, by means of extravagant advertising and deceptive statements, gained a temporary patronage; but their uselessness and worthlessness have soon become apparent, and they have proved disastrous speculations to their originators and proprietors. The Pain Killer alone has been found the reliable and sure cure for the complaints and casualties for which it is designed—for repeated use in suffering, and a fortune to its worthy proprietors; and we may add that they are, in every sense of the word, worthy men and citizens. No men make a better use of their large means, and none are more truly generous and benevolent. No one, that is aware of, envies them their good fortune, for it is beyond that they have well deserved it.
